

"We establish shared positions with clients from the outset. We responsibly develop and guide integrated teams. We inject visions that generate inventive processes and solutions."

SANDRA BEER

Principal, RA, LEED AP

Sandra Beer is a co-founder and Principal of Lo-Fi Architecture, established in January of 2010. In her pursuit to be an architect, Sandra studied in Kansas, Germany, and Rhode Island, accumulating two degrees, each with honors. Prior to establishing Lo-Fi, she practiced in San Francisco, Boston, and Dallas and has travelled internationally to participate in design competitions. Sandra's architectural sensibilities are continually honed by the unique challenges that each project presents. While she thrives on the rigorous process that goes into the making of architecture, it is the satisfaction of the project's practical needs, and the experiential qualities of the final work that motivate her.
